

CLAIM AMENDMENTS

Claims 1-3 (canceled)

Claim 4 (new): Process for updating a numerical system for data processing in a computer having a keyboard for integrating for use a non-existing supplementary symbol, characterized by selecting a keyboard key to which the supplementary symbol is assigned, updating the system one single time for rendering resident the supplementary symbol in the system to make the supplementary symbol available for direct use by the working system and the softwares.

a!
cont

Claim 5 (new): Kit for updating a numerical system for data processing in a computer for integration for use of a non-existing supplementary symbol comprising support means having a software for updating a numerical system for processing data recorded thereon, said software enabling updating the system one single time for rendering resident the supplementary symbol in the system to make the supplementary symbol available for direct use by the working system and the software and a keyboard key for exchange bearing in addition the representation of the supplementary symbol in the system to make the supplementary symbol available for direct use by the working system and the software.
